Current State for Most Organizations

7 Functions of an Executive Leadership Team

CORPORATE VISION & STRATEGY

Defining and communicating a clear vision and strategy for the organization

Prioritize efforts of subordinate leadership

"A leader should be visionary and have more foresight than an employee."

EXTERNAL STAKEHOLDER MANAGEMENT

Clear articulation of the organization's "story" to analysts, shareholders, and current/ potential investors

"Never invest in a business you cannot understand."

ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE

Defining & articulating core values, behaviors, expectations, and practices that guide and inform the actions of all team members by which the organization will be known

"Culture eats strategy for breakfast"

MODELING PERSONAL LEADERSHIP

Serving as a living example for others to follow in that they serve the mission and leads by serving those on the mission with them

Passionate service to the mission and to those who join the leader on the mission

"Have I earned the right to lead my team today?"

TALENT MANAGEMENT & DEVELOPMENT

Recruiting, training & equipping leadership at all levels

Ensuring succession at all levels of leadership

"No matter how brilliant your mind or strategy, if you're playing a solo game, you'll always lose out to a team."

RESOURCE ALLOCATION

Effectively allocating equipment, capital, people, and other resources to maximize Return on Capital

Articulate priorities of effort to subordinate leadership

"Strategy is simply resource allocation. When you strip away the noise, that's what it comes down to."

ORGANIZATIONAL ACCOUNTABILITY

Ultimate accountability for financial, operations, and cultural performance of the organization

"However beautiful the strategy, you should occasionally look at the results."

Effective Clarity of Purposeful Communication

Focus on Culture:

- Not only talk about it, but live by it
- Values are known and reinforced in every division and department
- Shapes the guidance for decision making by leaders
- Employees are measured in their behavioral alignment with the company culture and values

Creating Interdependence Through Collaboration and Influence:

- Nearly all organizations have a level of matrix to them
- Effective leaders much be able to collaborate across different functions and across different levels within the organization
- Leaders who can drive decisions through influence demonstrate higher potential for future leadership opportunities.

Learning Through Exposure:

- Develop leaders through interactions and relationships with colleagues, experts, customers, vendors, and ultimately with investors and shareholders
- Place individuals in stretch roles or special projects that increase exposure to other parts of the business
- Apprenticeship is a core element to leader development

Learning Through Knowledge Sharing:

- Organizations prioritize a learning culture through open communication and psychological safety
- Conduct after-action reviews
- Talk about challenges and problems with the intent to bring solutions
- Culture that encourages all levels to speak up and contribute to solutions and the ultimate success of the organization

Senior Business Leaders Own Their Succession Process:

- Business/functional leaders work in conjunction with HR – but the onus of accountability belongs with senior leadership
- HR leadership and management programs are used as a key supporting effort to the process

Succession for Success

Addressing business critical succession questions

BUILDING YOUR TALENT PIPELINE

- How will you build the capability needed for the future?
- How will you manage the capabilities of the past?
- How can you ensure the right balance between "build" and "buy"?
- Who are your leaders of the future?
- How do you support the growth of leadership potential?
- Where are the strengths and gaps in your leadership/ talent pipeline?

IDENTIFYING AND ASSESSING C-SUITE AND STRATEGIC ROLE SUCCESSORS

- Who will succeed to the organizations C-Level positions?
- What are the game changing roles of the future?
- How do you identify suitable candidates to feed these roles?

PREPARING AND ACCELERATING LEADERSHIP READINESS

- What are the current leadership capability strengths and gaps?
- How do you effectively support the preparation of internal successors?
- How do you plan to accelerate internal leaders' readiness to take on their next role?
- How can development be targeted to enable appointed candidates to perform quickly in their new roles?

Strategic Talent Management Eco-system

Strategic talent management should be looked at as a comprehensive process including all talent workstreams

A Competency Management

Process of defining a framework for key functional skills and behavioral attributes necessary for an employee to succeed in his current/future role at a given leadership level

B Succession Management

Process for identifying a pool of leadership who will be ready to take on critical roles and prepare the organization for the future

© Retention / Mobility Management

Process of early identification of key talent who are at risk due to time in role, position etc. AND matching key talent and opportunities across the enterprise to accelerate impact.

Career Management

Process of proactively enabling growth and mobility for employees for providing access to information and opportunities

E Performance Management

Process for identifying a pool of leadership who will be ready to take on critical roles and prepare the organization for the future

F Learning & Development

Process of building organization and individual effectiveness through focused learning interventions for technical and behavioral development. Includes High Potential - - spot talent for development.

Organizational Structure

Over the last 8+ years organizations have had to "lean out" from an org-structure perspective. Many organizations have flattened out the organizational structure, "doing more with less." However, most have not taken the time to revaluate the roles and responsibilities and made the realignment around leadership characteristics and compensation.

- Have we re-evaluated our Org Structure post COVID
- Are roles and responsibilities accurately captured in job descriptions?
- Are goals and objectives for key roles outlined clearly and aligned with corporate level goals?
- Do we have a framework for assessment that remains consistent across the organization?
- Does our bonus program align with priorities of the business and expectations of leadership behaviors?
- To what degree have we incorporated our values and culture into our leadership framework?
- Do we understand impact of "leveling up" in leadership responsibility
- "Hire 5 people, world them like 10, and pay them like 8."
   Jim Collins

Five Levels of Leadership

"What got you here won't get you there." Too often we promote individuals because they are skilled at their current job – however, what makes them great in their current role may prohibit them from being successful in the next level of leadership. Great engineers do not necessarily make great P&L leaders. Do we understand the leadership capabilities required for the next level of leadership?

Level 5 - C-Suite/Enterprise level leadership.

Responsibility for and impact at enterprise level through decision making

Level 4 - Leading leaders who lead leaders

Level 3 - Leading leaders who lead people

 Level 3 typically is first exposure to impact through cross-functional collaboration

Level 2 - Leading people

Level 1 - Individual contributor through subject matter expertise

Assessment Philosophy for Leadership Succession

Robust leadership assessment is at the core of our approach to succession management

The Heidrick Leadership Framework - How We Think About Executive Assessment

The Heidrick Leadership Framework is an assessment process designed to help you holistically evaluate individuals and find the right person for the role. With the benefit of META - a data-driven model for gauging leadership performance - it importantly assesses an individual's leadership capability and potential - as well as impact culture - against the traditional backdrop of experience and expertise.

Pivotal Experience & Expertise

The Leader's Past

Technical knowledge, skills and abilities that a candidate must possess

Scale, Industry, Regional Exposure, Education

Culture Impact

The Leader's Shadow

Drivers and values that will impact the culture

Team-first Approach, Collaborative Style, Provides Sense of Purpose/Direction

Leadership Capabilities

The Leader's Present

Leadership competencies critical to deliver the mandate

Put Customer First, Shape Strategy, Inspire & Influence, Build Teams & Talent, Drive for Results, Disrupt & Challenge, Lead Innovation

Agility & Potential

The Leader's Future

delivery of current and any future mandate

Foresight, Learning, Adaptability, and Resilience

Heidrick & Struggles Approach to CEO Search & Succession Process

Succession Management

Develop effective end to end succession management solutions to build a strong talent pipeline and accelerate business performance

Succession Mgmt Strategy Development

Based on the winning capabilities for the future marketplace, possible strategic business scenarios and the implications of these for leadership accountabilities and roles

Succession Mgmt Framework & Implementation

Definition of the framework, action plan and accountabilities to deliver the succession strategy; clarify leadership requirements of the business going forward

Assessment of Leadership Capability & Potential

An understanding of current and potential internal and external leadership capability to make objective decisions

Leadership Development & Transition Planning

Growth of internal capabilities to ensure fitness for the future in a process integrated with succession and high potential development; effective transition support into new roles

Strong Talent Pipeline

The leadership and critical talent to accelerate the performance of your business both now and in the future

Assessment Approach for Leadership Succession

IDENTIFY FUTURE LEADERSHIP NEED

Define the leadership success profile for the future

- Skills and experience
- Leadership capabilities and Agility
- Characteristics reflective of the future strategy and desired culture

UNDERSTAND CURRENT CAPABILITY

In-depth assessment of the current leadership team against the leadership success profile

- Identification of current leadership strengths and gaps
- Indication of how well equipped your leadership team are to deliver the strategy and accelerate performance of the organization

UNDERSTAND FUTURE CAPABILITY

In-depth assessment of potential successors against the leadership success profile

- Reliable information to inform decision making
- A picture of individual readiness to take up more senior leadership roles

Identification of high potential

- Identification of the leaders of the future
- A clear picture of the strengths and gaps in the organization's leadership pipeline

TARGET DEVELOPMENT

Use objective assessment information to inform leadership development investment

- Accelerate readiness to take on more senior roles
- Target investment to build leadership capability for the future
- Target development for the current leadership team
- Equip newly appointed leaders to perform in their role

TRANSITION

Ensure a smooth and accelerated transition for selected leader

- Coordinate onboarding and transition as appropriate with coaching, 100-day planning and immersion offerings with other new leaders
- Manage other transitions within organization with potential role changes

Understanding Individual Capabilities

Companies are able to maximize talent development when they are able to pair a robust assessment framework in combination with intentional leadership that requires personal engagement between the leader and his/her team to fully understand strengths as key areas for development and growth as well as less developed areas.

- Does our leadership assessment framework provide insights into our peoples' strengths and gaps?
- Do we know what key criteria for technical skills combined with leadership capabilities are required for key roles?
- Do we know the members of our team deep enough to have a perspective of their life and career ambitions?
- Are we positioning our people to leverage and maximize their strengths? Or are we limiting them by putting them in positions that prioritize areas that highlight their own development needs?
- Do we understand how this new role is different than the old? What does this person need to start doing and what do they need to stop doing in order to make them successful?

The Impact of Leadership Development

Create Shareholder Value

Delighting The Customer

Point of Impact With Customer

Leads To Profitable Growth

Provides Exceptional Quality & Service

Our greatest impact as leaders is when we invest in our people through shared mission/purpose, development/growth, and empathy coupled with accountability – they are the ones at the point of impact with our customers, suppliers, etc

The 70/20/10 Rule In Learning & Development

It is widely held that individuals obtain 70% of their skills and knowledge from job-related experiences, 20% from interactions with others, and 10% from formal educational events

70% "Experience" Driven Development

- On the job training Cross Functional Exposure
- Stretch Roles / Promotional Opportunities*
- Immersive Special Projects

20% Relationships & Mentoring

- Formal/Informal Mentorship Programs
- Career/Executive Coaching
- Cross-Functional (Sponsored) Peer Groups

10% Reading/Video – Self Driven

- External Courses/Programs
- Formal MBA
- Continued Education Courses
- Leadership Development Programs
- Reading programs
- Online resources
- Competitor analysis through reviewing earnings/ presentations

*It is critical that anyone placed in a stretch role for development understands the new expectations and is provided active resources to support them in their own learning and growth

The Art of Executive Leadership

As development of leaders reaching Level 4 and Level 5, we must think differently with respect to the roles and responsibilities of these individuals – particularly the new priorities and skillsets that will allow them to have the greatest impacts at this level. Peter Drucker, in his book "The Effective Executive" provides a thoughtful approach.

Shift from problem solving mindset to exploiting opportunities

Communicate to ensure understanding with seniors, peers, and subordinates

Working ON the business versus IN the business – getting the right things done.

Moving from doing to thinking. Executives must set the priorities through thoughtful decision making

Prioritize the future – positioning the business for what will come, not what is

Are You Moving in the Right Direction?

FROM TO ROLE TO Plans that identify and map individuals against the future Plans that were purely mapping individuals to existing roles CAPABILITY winning capabilities in the organization within the organization INTERNAL Plans that mapped existing people within the organization to Plans that map internal and external talent to future TO INTERNAL + roles within the organisation capabilities and roles EXTERNAL MAPPING HIERARCHIC TO Plans that focus on C-Suite roles and roles that will create Plans were focused mainly just on the senior C-suite roles VALUE BASED most value to the organization going forward HR OWNED TO Succession planning seen as a key value contributor to talent Succession planning mainly seen as an HR process with little BUSINESS / LEADER management and business success; Board and CEO value perceived by the business OWNED involvement as appropriate PASSIVE TO Seen as a dynamic process within the organisation that is Plans that were seen as one-off events every 1-2 years DYNAMIC rapidly updated to reflect future strategic scenarios PLAN TO Focus was on creating the annual succession planning Focus is on driving proactive interventions to close gaps that EXECUTION process and little action in-between are identified in the plan

Our View of Leadership, Relationships, & Accountability

- 1 COMMUNICATION
- Are we moving to a culture that values bold, transparent communication around individual and team capabilities? Is our messaging consistent and fair? Are leaders capable and willing to have the tough conversations around people?

- 2 ACCOUNTABILITY
- Shifting the mindset from "how the world impacts me" to "How can I impact the world?" Both individuals and leaders must be in a mindset of personal accountability for the individual, for himself/herself. For the leader, this accountability is inclusive over all that he/she has responsibility and authority...not just in the business, but on behalf of his/her people.

3 CULTURE INTEGRATION

Does our culture prioritize the development of people? Do we value the way that teams work together? Do we live by our values?

- LEADER/EMPLOYEE ENGAGEMENT
- Have leaders moved beyond a transactional relationship with their employees? Do they know them at a deeper level? Have we invested the time to ensure that all our people feel valued as individuals as well as their contribution to a team?

- ORGANIZATIONAL IMPACT
- No matter the function, do we all know our contribution to something greater than ourselves? Does leadership at all levels see how their role fits into the bigger picture? Are we able to connect the dots in a way that allows critical thinking for greater impact?

Get Practical: Tips to embrace

- 1. Start now/keep at it it's important and worth it
- 2. Talent is a key enabler of your strategy think, nourish, invest and plan
- 3. Think 2-3 years out and have an emergency plan.
- 4. For development, use the ratio of 70-20-10
  - Optimize "on the job" assignments to test and develop your talent, increase engagement and determine future needs
  - Use developmental "heat" wisely
- 5.Be aware of biases when promoting or selecting new talent
- 6.It's a team sport ALL leaders should be thinking about this and actively engaged (not just CEO and HR)
- 7.Use time and being lean to your advantage

Core Elements of Best-in-Class CEO Succession

As experts in CEO Succession, we partner closely with Boards and other key stakeholders in four fundamental areas to ensure a thoughtful, robust, objective and successful decision regarding the next CEO to lead the company. We bring an expertise in internal candidate assessment and development, external benchmarking, external candidate search and selection, and transition support to meet your CEO succession needs.

COMPANY STRATEGY

Where is the organization today?

Where will it be in the future?

Is the Board aligned around the strategy and objectives?

INDUSTRY MARKET ANALYSIS

What requirements do competitors have for their CEOs?

What makes a successful CEO in the industry?

FUTURE CEO PROFILE

What are the critical CEO experiences?
What are the critical CEO leadership criteria?
Is the Succession Committee and broader Board aligned around the future CEO Profile?

INTERNAL CANDIDATE ASSESSMENT

Which leaders are interested and ready?

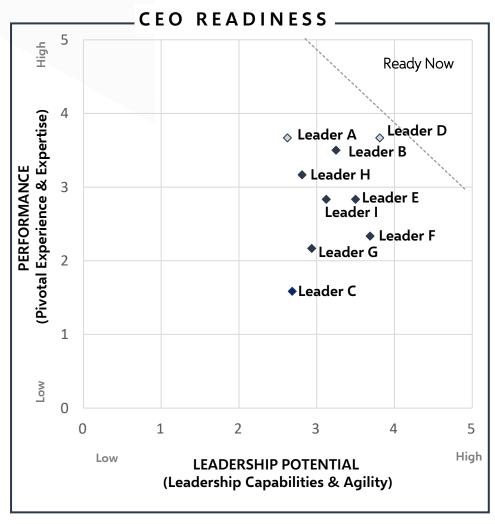

How will the Succession Committee choose viable candidates to be included in the process? What if someone wants to be included and is not deemed viable?

What development is needed for each candidate?

Is the Succession Committee and the broader Board aligned with the candidate choices?

CEO Readiness & Succession Planning Insights

Time to CEO Readiness: Talent Map

Of the nine executives assessed, we consider none to be "ready-now" to begin the transition process for the CEO position. The leader with the inherent ability and capacity to be CEO is Leader D, and we estimate approximately 2-3 years for her to be "ready now". Leader B could be considered a short-term interim CEO in an emergency context.

READY IN APPROXIMATELY 2-3 YEARS

• Leader D has strong leadership potential; she requires continued accelerated development to be ready for a CEO position, including operational P&L experience in her current role, and incrementally increasing exposure to the Board, corporate finance and Investor Relations to round out her leadership expertise.

NEXT GENERATION LEADERS – READY IN 5+ YEARS

- Leader F has strong leadership potential; she is 5+ years from being CEO ready with continued accelerated development based on expanding general management P&L experience and more complex strategy development and implementation.
- Leader I is a next level leader with strong leadership potential and solid experience. He could take on additional operational responsibilities in 1-3 years and would benefit from developing and implementing digital growth strategies.
- Leader E could be CEO ready in 7+ years by broadening his operational experience and M&A strategy to successfully build out the IT practice.
- Leader G can expand his current role and is 10+ years from being CEO ready, once he has had a chance to increase his operational acumen (e.g., expanding his scale of P&L) and strategic leadership of a global consulting practice.

LIMITED CEO POTENTIAL, BUT OPPORTUNITIES FOR FURTHER GROWTH

- Leader A is at level with less potential to develop into a strong CEO candidate given his leadership gaps. He is well suited to client-focused growth strategies.
- Leader B is well-placed in his current role and would be suited for executive operating roles, such as future Chief Operating Officer. He could be considered as an "alternate" short-term interim CEO in an emergency but has limited long-term CEO potential.
- Leader H is at level. He would benefit from driving growth in digital initiatives, leveraging technology to create a new business line.
- Leader C is managing a P&L for the first time while expanding strategic capabilities by integrating digital services in other programs.

The "Recipe" for Succession Success and Pitfalls to Avoid

1. ALIGN

- Board and top team must align on strategic priorities and desired organizational culture
- Then agree on the pivotal experiences & expertise; leadership capabilities; culture fit & impact; and agility and potential that define the Ideal new CEO/Executives

2. ASSESS Talent

- Identify who to assess
- Assess identified leaders to prioritize development areas
   light touch, high touch
- Provide honest, insightful and objective assessments identify signature strengths, potential derailers, culture fit & motivators and development opportunities

3. ADVANCE

- Accelerate development via assignments, rotations, promotions, coaching, leadership development modules & other mechanisms
- The best development happens on the job
- Use time to your advantage

4. ACCERELATE TRANSITION AND IMPACT

- Identify successors for identified roles
- Accelerate role transition & impact
- Continue/refresh process
