

2026 POLICY PRIORITIES

Protecting American Energy Jobs, Supply Chains, and Global Stability
Federal permitting, trade, and energy security decisions directly affect U.S. jobs and allies.

WHY IT MATTERS

630,000+ Jobs
Energy services workers nationwide

$1.8 Trillion
Economic impact across U.S. states

GLOBAL REACH
U.S. energy supports allies and stabilizes markets

PERMITTING REFORM

Reduce delays. Increase certainty.

- A clear, coordinated federal permitting process
- Decisions made on a predictable schedule
- Reliable leasing and LNG export approvals
- NEPA Reform (SPEED ACT)

TARIFFS & SUPPLY CHAINS

Protect U.S. jobs without raising project costs.

- Focus trade enforcement on unfair foreign practices
- End Tariffs for critical energy equipment and materials
- Avoid trade actions that increase costs or delay U.S. energy projects

AMERICAN WORKFORCE

Good-paying jobs that support families and local communities.

- Expand apprenticeships and veteran-to-workforce pathways
- Make it easier for skilled workers to move and work across state lines
- Support tax and training policies that help employers hire and retain workers

GEOPOLITICAL STABILITY

Predictable U.S. policy helps keep energy markets stable.

- Support U.S. energy production and exports that reduce pressure on allies
- Protect energy infrastructure and global shipping routes
- Avoid sudden policy shifts that create price spikes and uncertainty

WHAT WE'RE ASKING CONGRESS TO DO

- Advance predictable and timely federal permitting for energy infrastructure
- End tariffs on critical energy components that raise costs and threaten US energy dominance
- Support U.S. energy production and exports to strengthen global stability
- Codify permitting and regulatory reforms to provide long-term certainty
- Increase transparency and accountability in federal permitting decisions

WHAT HAPPENS WITHOUT ACTION

FEWER PERMITS	FEWER PROJECTS
HIGHER COSTS	FEWER JOBS
MORE IMPORTS	LESS SECURITY
VOLATILITY	HIGHER PRICES
